

Director of Education

Yeshivah Prep High School

Brooklyn, NY

Salary: $175,000 - $225,000

The Organization

Yeshivah Prep High School is a premier private institution located in Brooklyn, New York, dedicated to providing a rigorous academic education alongside a strong foundation in Jewish studies for students with language-based learning disabilities. The mission of Yeshivah Prep is to nurture every child's strengths and support their learning differences. By fostering self-awareness and confidence students are empowered to thrive and feel connected to the community both within and outside the school walls.

Fostering a small, connected community where staff members demonstrate genuine care, kindness, and dedication to one another and their students, the school creates a supportive and collaborative atmosphere. Faculty members are passionate educators promoting critical thinking, character development, and a love for learning.

The administration actively provides guidance and encouragement, while students thrive in a place where they feel heard, respected, and advocated for. As a result, students are happy, and motivated. The community has been energized by its brand new learning space designed to meet the students' unique needs, including support for their academic, social and spiritual wellness. Students also spend a portion of their day at Yeshivah of Flatbush Joel Braverman High School, participating in morning prayers, school assemblies, and a variety of courses.

Yeshivah Prep graduates emerge as self-aware, confident young adults, equipped with the skills they need to succeed.
